More Detailed Account of ICC Ruling Against NYC

THE ICC RULING: A few days ago this newspaper carried the story that the Illinois Commerce Commission denied the NYC railroad application to discontinue its Harrisburg-to-Chicago passenger service and the entire opinion has now reached this office.

Although the news story carried the principal parts, Timmo has picked through the opinion and pulled out some bits that might be interesting.

In case you've forgotten, back on July 12, 1949, the NYC filed an application to discontinue the service, then Aug. 20, same year, filed an amended complaint. Then the railroad requested that the complaint not be heard.

Next, on March 4, 1953, a second amended complaint was filed and hearings were held, one in Harrisburg July 21-22.

Today Timmo brings you some of the content to the ruling which gives fact established by the commission's comment. Here goes:

"Since 1949, at least, the railroad took no steps to encourage passenger traffic on these trains and in addition to the above-mentioned elimination of Pullman sleeper service, actually operated the trains in a manner to discourage their use by the travelling public."

"Although the railroad made several adjustments in the schedules of the trains, the ultimate result of such adjustments was to reduce the average speed on their runs."

"On the present schedules, the elapsed running time of southbound train 463 from Chicago to Harrisburg (a distance of 318 miles) is approximately 11 hours, and that of northbound train 462 is 10 hours and 25 minutes, such schedules calling for an average train speed of 29 miles per hour."

"For the 12-month period commencing June 1, 1952, and ending May 31, 1953, train No. 462 was from five minutes to three hours late on arrival at Chicago (averaging 36 minutes) on 210 of the 265 days it operated, and train No. 463 was from six minutes to three hours and 15 minutes late on arrival (averaging 81 minutes) on 268 of the 365 days it operated."

"No buffet or dining car service was made on said trains."

"Although the passenger fares to and from Chicago on the trains are higher than those on the Illinois Central railroad to and from Chicago from comparable points, the railroad failed, upon request, to offer reduced rates to and from Chicago to various organizations at the time of their annual conventions in Chicago, in order to stimulate traffic, despite the fact that the Illinois Central railroad did so."

"In June, 1951, the railroad stop."

Berserk Worker Killed, 9 Hurt in Dynamite Blast

DEARBORN, Mich. (UP)—A berserk Ford Motor Company worker exploded two bundles of dynamite in a Dearborn hotel Friday night and was believed to have died in the blasts which injured nine other persons slightly.

Dearborn police said a body, tentatively identified as John J. Sustersic, 41, was found in the rubble of the Tuxedo Hotel at almost three hours after the explosions.

Sustersic, who lived at another hotel in the area, left a note which said: "God has been wanting me to do this for a long time. Tonight's the first night I've had enough courage. I never have any peace."

According to police, Sustersic came to the hotel shortly after 10 p. m. and threw a bundle of dynamite into a room occupied by George Vilga, 28.

The blast was light and Vilga suffered minor lacerations and bruises. He was treated at Wayne County General Hospital and released.

Police said Sustersic apparently was the only person close to the second and much stronger blast which rocked the four-story brick building and ripped out the north wall.

Seven of the other injured persons also were released after hospital attention. One person declined assistance.

Lewis, Beck, McDonald Plan to Seize Labor Leadership from Reuther, Meany

WASHINGTON (UP)—Three powerful union leaders today appeared to be aiming to take top place in labor leadership from CIO President Walter Reuther and AFL President George Meany.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chief; Dave Beck, head of the AFL Teamsters union; and David McDonald, president of the CIO Steelworkers, reached an informal agreement here Friday to work together on "mutual" political and economic problems.

Informed labor sources discounted reports the three planned to start a third labor federation on a formal basis. They saw the agreement instead as a power-play against Reuther and Meany.

Lewis, speaking for the three after the meeting, said they agreed to cooperate in an effort to get government action to combat rising unemployment, to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law, and seek national, state and local legislation for the benefit of "the economy as a whole, workers and America."

Beck said the three had not invited the AFL or CIO to join their alignment. But Lewis expressed hope that "American labor as a whole" will go along with their efforts.

Lewis, who helped found and headed the CIO for a number of years, quit both the CIO and later the AFL in dissatisfaction with their leaders. He has bitterly criticized recent AFL-CIO unity moves, which have excluded his mine workers.

Beck, who said in advance the meeting was called to see how "our three organizations can be of assistance to each other," has refused to go along with the AFL-CIO "non-aggression" pact championed by Meany and Reuther.

McDonald was said in some circles to have differences with CIO President Reuther. He was a contender for the CIO presidency at the time of Philip Murray's death. The teamsters and steelworkers each claim membership of 1,300,000 workers. Lewis' union claims 400,000.

The secret session then was called at the Palace of Nations, where the Geneva conference has been in session since last Monday.

After meeting with South Korea's allies, Dulles drove to Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's rented villa and they again discussed President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace plan.

The official statement on the Dulles-Molotov visit did not disclose whether the two diplomats discussed the issues which have held up the start of Indochina peace talks.

In calling for the secret meeting, the announcement said only that Dulles, Molotov, Chou, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, South Korean Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai and North Korean Foreign Minister Nam Il and their closest advisers would participate.

None of the proceedings of the secret talks will be made public, the announcement said.

Dulles heretofore has refused to speak to Chou at the Geneva conference, though only a few seats have separated them. He has often turned his head to avoid a face-to-face encounter with the Red Chinese premier and foreign minister.

Even though Dulles may be obliged to speak directly to Chou during the secret talks, this would not constitute recognition of Red China diplomatically.

Molotov, who has been playing up to Chou instead of giving him the master-pupil treatment he has campaigned vigorously in the Red foreign minister's behalf since the outset of the conference.

Humane Society to Observe 'Be Kind To Animals Week'

With the 40th nationwide observance of Be Kind to Animals Week beginning tomorrow, special attention will be directed to the work of the Harrisburg Humane society. This event is sponsored by the American Humane association and more than 600 national and local organizations concerned with the humane treatment of animals.

Mrs. Tim Turner, local society president, has invited the public to visit the organization's shelter on the Dorris Heights road across from the fairgrounds. "We are always happy to have the public visit us and see our work," she said, "but are especially anxious during this special week."

During the special week the society is concentrating on finding homes for dogs and cats being cared for temporarily at the shelter. Children always find a visit to the shelter an exciting experience.

The local observance includes the following: Display of posters in business windows; many ministers of the county will recognize BKA from the pulpit tomorrow; the Rev. Louie Durfee will speak on the subject, "The Christian Faith and Concern for Animals," on his WEBQ program at 3 p. m. Wednesday.

The week will close with a mass rabies vaccination at the city hall from 1 to 5 p. m. Saturday, May 8. It was announced the society needs doghouses and coffee cans or suitable feed pans, and needs rummage for its sale which will be held the last week in June.

West, Reds to Hold Secret Talks on Korea

Dulles Will Meet With China's Chou For the First Time

GENEVA, Switzerland (UP)—The West and the Communists agreed to hold secret talks today on Korea, bringing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Red China's Chou En-Lai in direct contact for the first time.

Dulles met earlier with representatives of the 16 nations which fought against the Communists in Korea. They decided that secret talks offered the only means of breaking the Korean deadlock.

The secret session then was called at the Palace of Nations, where the Geneva conference has been in session since last Monday.

After meeting with South Korea's allies, Dulles drove to Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov's rented villa and they again discussed President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace plan.

8-Man Tribunal To Study Fate of Cpl. Dickenson

WASHINGTON (UP)—An eight-man military tribunal will receive final instructions Monday and begin deliberating the fate of Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Cracker's Neck, Va.

The 23-year-old soldier faces a possible life sentence if six or more tribunal members find him guilty of charges he collaborated with his Red captors and informed on fellow POW's in Korea. The Army waived the death sentence before the court martial began at Ft. Lesley J. McNair April 19.

Col. Richard F. Scarborough, presiding law officer at the court martial, will give the final instructions, which are similar to a judge's charges to a jury.

Russia Unveils Giant Bomber in May Day Show

MOSCOW (UP)—The Soviet Union today displayed for the first time a giant, four-jet swept-wing transcontinental bomber which air experts said was obviously capable of delivering atomic and hydrogen bombs.

The sleek, silvery aircraft flashed across Red Square as the major surprise of the annual May Day Parade. A new type of twin-jet, swept-wing bomber also was unveiled in the 176-plane flypast.

Other planes on display were 81 swept-wing MIG fighters and 81 TU27 straight-winged twin jet attack bombers. Thirteen of the swept-wing twin jets flew over.

The big bomber dwarfed the other planes. Its unveiling followed by only a week premier Georgi Malenkov's warning that an atomic or hydrogen bomb attack on Russia would meet with immediate retaliation.

Foreign military observers were obviously impressed as the big bomber whooshed past at the head of the air umbrella over Red Square.

The new bomber is in the American B52 class, with eight jets, and is a stepped up version of the swept wing four jet B47, now the principal American transcontinental bomber.

Only minutes before, Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, the Soviet defense minister, told troops and citizens jamming the sunlit square that the Soviet army and navy "represent an awe-inspiring battle force, a reliable bulwark for the peaceful work of the Soviet people."

Dwain Coffee, Eldorado Ag Student Given Scholarship to Conservation School

Dwain Coffee, vocational agriculture student and senior at Eldorado Township high school, has been awarded a scholarship to a conservation school to be conducted at Lake Villa, Ill., this summer. The scholarship was awarded by the 24th district, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs.

Coffee was nominated for the scholarship by the Eldorado club, on recommendation of L. B. Kimmel, Saline county farm adviser, who named him as an outstanding youth leader in the county. His name was also submitted by the Saline County Federation of Women's clubs.

Coffee is president of the ETHS chapter of Future Farmers of America and also president of Mt. Pleasant 4-H club.

This week at a sectional meeting of FFA chapters, held at SIU, Coffee won first place in the Farm Mechanics division and will be entered in district competition at Benton May 10. District winners advance into statewide competition. Last year, in the same classification, Coffee took top honors in sectional and district contests and second in the state meet.

Another Eldorado FFA student, Billy Ray Gaines, also took a first place in the sectional meet. He was entered in the Home Beautification classification.

In discussing his work, Coffee revealed he had completed a lot of work on the home farmstead, including fence and building repairs, land clearance and other type of work necessary to keeping a farm in good repair. He also has eleven head of registered swine—Hampshire breeding stock.

Farm Mechanics classification includes farm machinery and repair, soil and water conservation, construction and repair of farm fences, repair and painting of farm buildings and general improvement of the farmstead. Coffee has a written and pictorial record of his participation in all phases of the work.

Young Coffee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coffee, who reside near Karel park, is eagerly looking forward to attending the conservation camp at Villa Lake this summer, considering it an unusual opportunity to continue with his favorite work—agriculture.

H. C. Bishop is head of the vocational agriculture department of Eldorado Township high school.

Sergeant Says Photo Taken At His Request

WASHINGTON (UP)—An Air Force staff sergeant said today the famous picture of Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens at McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey was taken at his direction in the normal course of his public relations work at the base.

The sergeant, Herbert R. Manchester, told the United Press: "I asked the photographer to take it. I honestly can't recall anyone saying 'I want a picture with so-and-so'."

The picture has been an issue in the Army-McCarthy hearings all week. The original showed Stevens, Pvt. G. David Schine, former consultant to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's investigating subcommittee, taken at his direction in the normal course of his public relations work at the base.

Picture Put In Evidence

A trimmed version, showing only Stevens and Schine, was prepared by McCarthy's staff members and put in evidence in the current hearings early this week. It was offered in support of a contention that Stevens was trying to butter up Schine, by then a private in the Army, and wanted to have a picture taken with him.

Schine testified that Stevens asked him to stand with him when the picture was taken. And Roy M. Cohn, regular counsel of McCarthy's subcommittee, testified that Stevens wanted to be in a picture with Schine. Schine was stationed at Ft. Dix, N. J., and had been ordered by his commander to go to the nearby McGuire base to meet Stevens, McCarthy said.

Members of the subcommittee staff when they arrived there late last Nov. 17.

Gives Account of Events

Manchester was called in the hearing Friday before it recessed for the weekend. He identified the original four-person picture and testified he directed the taking of it.

He was excused without being asked who—if anyone—requested that the photograph be made.

Manchester, a slim 29-year-old veteran of eight years Air Force service, later gave an account of the events in response to questions by a United Press reporter.

At the time the picture was taken he was in charge of the public information office at the air base. He received word that the

.53 Inch Rainfall

Harrisburg's rainfall last night measured .53 inch and the fall at Galatia, in the Middle Fork watershed, was exactly .50 inch, Harris Kibler reported from the Pankey Branch station.

T. C. Wheeler, superintendent of the CIPS Muddy power station, said that there was insufficient water this morning to start the CIPS pumps on Middle Fork.

Three Men and Boy Missing At Cave-in-Rock

Fairfield Survivor Tells of Accident; Drag River for Others

Rivermen, Coast Guard and volunteers were searching the Ohio river near Cave-in-Rock this morning for the bodies of three men and one boy who are missing after a boat capsized during the rain in stormy waters Friday at 8:15 p. m.

Missing and believed drowned are Walter David Conway Jr., 25, Fairfield; Charles Reynolds, 21, Mill Shoals; Johnny Hollinger, 13, Mill Shoals, a nephew of Conway, and Ray Merritt, 36, of near Fairfield.

Guy Parrish, 27, Fairfield, was the only survivor of the mishap.

The group was in a rented 16-foot skiff with an outboard motor and had started out on the river to lay trot lines. They had just arrived at Cave-in-Rock for a fishing trip and after laying the trot lines had intended fishing from Dam 50 all night. The boat is believed to have hit a whirlpool as the current is fast and the river deep at the spot of the accident upstream from Cave-in-Rock. The boat had been rented from Orville Hobbs of Cave-in-Rock.

Searching parties combed the banks and two ferries searched the river for an hour and a half when the search was postponed until this morning. Many small boats were also on the river helping in the search. Today the river will be dragged in an attempt to recover the bodies.

Merritt and Reynolds were in the front of the boat, the boy was in the middle and Conway was operating the motor with Parrish sitting in the rear of the boat with him.

Parrish stated "All that I remember is that water suddenly broke over the front of the boat and it started down. David (Conway) said 'Take your boots off,' and all of them jumped clear of the boat. I stayed with the boat until the water got up to my shoulders, then started swimming for shore. I heard the others yelling."

"It must have taken at least 20 minutes for me to reach shore and I thought I was a gonner several times. I didn't have on boots, thank God, or I'd have drowned too."

"I lay exhausted for about 10 minutes after reaching shore and then I started crawling on my hands and knees until I came to a path. Then I walked to a road and flagged down a car."

"We got the ferry boat and went up the river searching with a spotlight but could see nothing."

The search was abandoned about 9:30.

Conway has a wife, Ruth, and one daughter, Katherine Elaine, about 3; Merritt has a wife, Freda, and four children: Nancy, 12, Jimmy, 10, Kenneth, 8, and Jackie, 5; Reynolds has a wife, Eloise Joyce, and two sons: Charles Jr., 20 months, and William Wesley, six months.

Johnny Hollinger is the son of Bayless Hollinger who is in the Air Force, stationed in England. He lives with his grandmother at Mill Shoals.

J. W. Lumsdon, 65, Retired Railroad Worker, Dies

James W. Lumsdon, 65-year-old retired railroad worker, died at 4:55 a. m. at his home, 24 West Homer street, and his funeral will be held Monday at the Harrisburg funeral home.

Mr. Lumsdon had suffered from heart asthma for five years and it was five years ago that he retired from railroad work.

He came here 50 years ago from Crabtree, Ky.

He is survived by his wife, Ella, and one brother, Ed Lumsdon, of Canoga Park, Calif.

Mr. Lumsdon was a member of the First Baptist church of Harrisburg and of the Stationary Firemen's Union.

The Rev. Roy Reynolds will conduct the funeral service at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel of the Harrisburg funeral home, where the body will lie in state, and burial will be in Big Ridge cemetery.

Prevent Siltation Of Lakes, Ponds, SIU Expert Urges

Inadequate soil conservation practices with resulting siltation
of lakes and ponds is aggravating water shortage problems in southern Illinois, says Joseph P. Vavra, agronomist at Southern Illinois university.

Drought conditions for the past two years have pin-pointed this problem and shown how a shortage of water affects rural and urban populations alike. Many farmers long have been hauling water and some cities in the area have been facing precarious water supply shortages for months.

Vavra says to reduce silting of water storage areas:
1. Keep much of the water shed land in grass and legume cover or planted to trees.
2. Practice good soil conservation—strip cropping, terracing, establishing grass waterways, and planting on the contour. Never cultivate up and down a slope.
3. Adequately lime and fertilize the land. Apply all available barnyard manure.
4. Protect the soil throughout the year by cover crops or using crop residues as mulches. Never burn the dried plant cover.

Better Soil Management Boosts Yields

CHICAGO — Corn production
could be boosted 800 million bushels in normal seasons on the present acreage in 13 Corn Belt states
by better soil management methods and the increased use of fertilizer, according to estimates reported by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

This is a third more corn than was produced in 1953, when yields in these states totaled 2,539,540,
000 bushels says the committee.
The states include Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

The committee bases its estimates of increased possible yields on studies by the National Soil and Fertilizer Research Committee which indicate that corn production on Midwestern farms is only two-thirds of the potential yield.

"Getting more bushels of corn per acre," says a statement issued by the committee, "involves these factors: 1 — A soil well stocked with a balanced supply of nutrients including nitrogen, phosphate
and potash; 2 — Plenty of moisture; 3 — Good soil structure,
drainage and water-holding capacity aided by sufficient organic matter; 4 — A stalk population high enough to make use of all the nutrients the soil can supply;
5 — Good cultivation methods plus control of insects and diseases."

The committee points out that higher corn yields per acre mean lower costs per bushel. That, in turn, means more "take-home"
profit even though farm prices
drop further.

Supplementary irrigation apparently is here to stay. Roth adds.
Census figures for 1950 show that even in the "humid area" of the country the irrigated acreage doubled between 1939 and 1949. Michigan and New York surveys indicate the irrigated acreage in those states has at least doubled since 1950. Sales of aluminum pipe for sprinkler irrigation system now is nearly four times the annual sales rate in 1949.

Both says, supplementary irrigation is needed in normal rainfall years because usually there are dry periods of two or three weeks
duration in the growing season which retard plant growth and cause reductions in yields. Also, rains sometimes are so intense that water run-off is heavy and subsoil moisture is not replenished as it should be for water storage. Hence, adding moisture at the right time will help the farmer realize the greatest benefit from using good seed and fertilizers for high yields.

Profitable use of irrigation in Southern Illinois is dependent primarily upon two factors:
1. An adequate water supply from streams, ponds, or wells.
2. A farming enterprise which includes some high value commercial crops such as vegetables or small fruits.

SIU Country Column

This is the season to have sows bred for fall dropping of pigs. It is a good idea to wean spring pigs (or any other kind) at eight weeks of age.

If weeds are a problem in winter
wheat, 2 4-D will give control.
One quarter pound of acid per acre is the largest quantity to be used if legumes are seeded in the wheat. Apply the spray after the wheat has finished stooling but before it reaches the boot stage.

A heavy application of nitrogen
or a heavy legume sod turned down for corn often helps the second year crop on the same land if dry weather has prevented the first crop from using up all the available nitrogen. In such circumstances it often pays to follow
corn with corn.

The tomato transplanting time is at hand. It might interest some people to know that more than 85 percent of the state's early summer fresh market tomatoes are produced in the southern 16 counties of Illinois. Tomatoes are the leading commercial vegetable crop in the region. Following in order by acreage are cucumbers, green beans, and peppers.

Most garden and field horticultural crops in southern Illinois get enough water in years when the monthly rainfall is average. It is the dry seasons with resulting small crops and high prices for produce that bring moves toward irrigation. Supplementary irrigation has been found to pay off for such intensive farming enterprises
by keeping plants growing vigorously during the summer weeks
when rains do not always come regularly to keep the soil moisture content up. Good soil care and treatment postpones the need for irrigation.

Keeping the young and old chickens separated in the poultry houses and poultry ranges will help keep disease losses down.
Good range is recommended for chickens. The best worm remedy for next year's laying flock is to have the young pullets on good clean range now. Those who received their chicks early this year in order to hit the higher egg market in late summer and early fall
should be getting the young pullets on range by this time. Portable range houses are handy in this case.

It is time to be preparing to save all your surplus grass this spring. The best way to utilize it is to make it into grass silage.
If you are short on silage space,
consider scooping out a trench silo on a slope near the barnyard. A hundred dollars invested in such a venture will take care of a lot of surplus grass and keep it for late summer, fall, or winter use.
Your farm adviser or the SIU Agriculture department will be able to tell you how to do it.

The first cutting of alfalfa likely will return more if made into silage than if there is an attempt to cure it for hay during the unstable weather of spring.

Seed Areas Around Farm Ponds

Bare soil around your farm pond should be seeded with grass to protect the slopes from erosion and to keep the pond from filling with silt.

B. A. Jones, University of Illinois agricultural engineer, points out that dry weather last fall caused seeding failures at many newly constructed farm ponds. And in some cases farmers felt that it was too dry to even seed.

Jones offers these suggestions
for getting a good stand of grass
on the earth dam and on the area around your farm pond:

1. Prepare a good seedbed. Apply
8-8-8 or 10-10-10 fertilizer at a rate of 400-800 pounds per acre. A 30-50 mixture of timothy and redtop
at 24-30 pounds per acre is recommended for most of Illinois. But brome grass, tall fescue or peren-

Get Corn Planter In Good Shape

Your corn yield next fall will depend more on the number of stalks you lay by than on the number of kernels you plant.

Ray I. Shawl, agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says you'll probably need to plant at least 1,000 more kernels of corn an acre than the number of stalks
you want your land to carry.

For example, if you want a corn population of 16,000 stalks on an acre of your highly fertile soil, shooting for a yield of 100 bushels or more, you'll have to plant at least 17,000 kernels.

It takes a loss of only one ear
in each 40 hills of corn planted 40 x 40 to add up to a bushel an acre, Shawl says. Stalks fail to grow from a kernel because of failure to germinate, plowing out or loss from insects or disease.

To be sure you are planting at the rate you want, you need to have confidence that your planter is operating at the correct rate.
You can make most of the common repairs at home, Shawl says, but it is a good idea to let your dealer check the valve operation and make sure the runners are in good condition.

If you drill your corn, you won't need to have your planter checked so carefully. But for high-class cross-checking, the valves must work freely and together, the fork must be tight on the trip shaft and have the right spread and the frame must not be sprung. Your dealer will tell you which plate to use for the planting rate you want.

Notes from Farm Adviser

Grass Silage
Now that spring rains have stimulated grass, rye, pastures, and other vegetation, the problem arises what to do with the surplus grass and legume growth. The suggestion is to make silage during May from this early growth. Dig a trench silo; cut, chop and pack
the silage into small space for winter feed. Pasture clippings to controll weeds make excellent silage especially if most of the vegetation is grass or legumes.

Plan now for your winter feed supply. This will save buying expensive hay next January or February. You will be able to bring cattle through to spring in better condition.

Start planning now for your nee-sary equipment and winter feed problems.

Dante Gabriel Rossetti often wrote amusing sonnets at the rate of one in five minutes, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

If cattle are in the same field, fence the area around the pond to establish and maintain a good sod.
If the first seeding doesn't catch,
Sudan grass will make a good temporary sod. Seed Sudan at the rate of 25-30 pounds per acre.

Leaves and Stalks Improve Garden Tilth

This year's "garden trash" can help you get higher yields and better vegetables next year. When you start your garden start a compost pile at the same time.

B. L. Weaver, vegetable specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that a compost pile is both a convenient way to get rid of crop residues
and a good source of organic fertilizer.

Except where drainage is a problem, pits are more desirable than surface piles. A shady corner or a spot back of shrubs is an ideal location. Use a frame of rough lumber with a division through the center to separate new from usable compost. You need a frame of about 36 square feet, 18 inches deep.

Save the dirt you dig out to weight down the compost materials and to help hold the moisture. You may need to water your compost pile off and on during dry weather. Keep the surface level to help get even water distribution.

Weaver says you can speed up rotting and add fertility if you add lime and fertilizer to the compost.
Use fertilizer in lime either at a ratio of 25 pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer and 10 pounds of finely ground limestone or at a ratio of 12 pounds of sulphate of ammonia,
6 pounds of superphosphate, 5 pounds of muriate of potash and 10 pounds of finely ground limestone.

Add about 1 pound of either mixture to each 10 pounds of dry refuse. If you are adding green material to your compost use only 1-4 pound to each 10 pounds.
Mix the compost material from time to time to speed up decay
and to give it a more uniform texture, Weaver suggests.

Sentence Youth For Receiving Stolen Money

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — A 22-year-old Lincoln, Ill. youth has been sentenced to 5 1/2 months in jail for receiving money stolen in a robbery of the Hoffman, Ill., Farmer's State Bank last Dec. 14.

Lester Lee Rogers was sentenced Friday by Federal Judge Charles G. Briggie after entering a plea of guilty to the charge.

Rogers admitted joining 20-year-old Claude Propst Jr., Lincoln, in a cross-country money spending spree with Propst's share of the robbery loot.

Propst has pleaded guilty to driving the get-away car in the robbery. Lloyd (Blackie) Shelton, 44, Lincoln, goes on trial in East St. Louis Federal Court Monday on charges of being the gunman.

Rogers said he met Propst at a movie in Lincoln about Dec. 20 while on sick leave from the Army and joined the other youth in travels to Missouri, Arkansas and finally to California.

During this time, Propst spent much of his $7,000 share in robbery loot on four cars—three of them abandoned—fancy clothes for both youths and presents for girls.

Rogers left Propst in California, flew to St. Louis, Mo., and turned himself in to the FBI. Propst was then arrested in California.

Briggie said he was inclined to give Rogers a "light sentence" because of his help in convicting Propst, and because he turned himself in.

flowing nearly 40 barrels oil per hour after fracturing.

Other Tests
George and Wrathe's No. 1 Earl and Sally Rhine, is flowing 25 barrels oil per hour after fracturing highly saturated Cypress sand 2534-40. The No. 2 same farm is on a production test of the Cypress which swabbed 50 barrels oil a day before installing pumping equipment.

One mile north of Eldorado, the only rig running at this time is the Ashland Oil and Refining No. 3 Victor Suttner, drilling today at 2900 with Tom Doran's rotary tools.

Carter Oil is in the process of completing its No. 2 James E. Horn, after swabbing 60 barrels oil a day in the Harrisburg sand.

Miami Operating has a location staked on the Stanley Edmister et al lease, SE SE SW, 13-8s-7e, three miles due east of Eldorado, but haven't started drilling yet.

Walter Duncan-Yale and Buddie Lewis are cleaning out and testing the Aux Vases line 2874-76 on their No. 1 J. W. Leithliter et al, SW SE NE, 23-8s-7e, two miles straight east of Eldorado. It swabbed nine barrels oil per hour after a 4000 gallon fracture job.

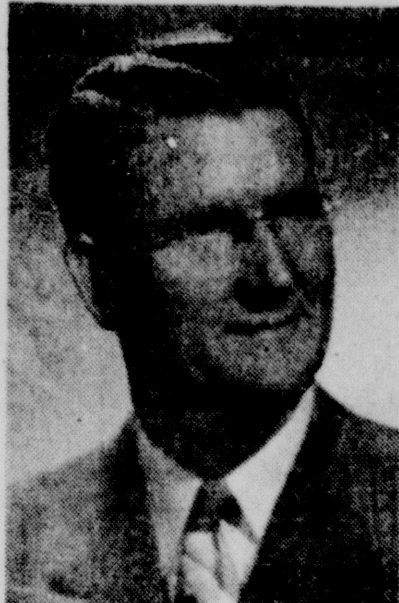

A newly staked location is the Walter Duncan No. 1 Dora Strain et al, SE SW NE, 23-8s-7e, also located two miles due east of Eldorado. Drilling hasn't started yet.

Manufacture of pipe from plastics is a rapidly expanding industry. The plastic pipe has advantage over steel pipe in that it is corrosion resistant, and tests have indicated that it will carry oil with complete freedom from paraffin accumulation.

Seniors May Apply For Navy Enlistment

High school seniors who will graduate this May can apply immediately for enlistment in the Navy for late May or the month of June, it was announced today by Harold Hunstein, Torpedoman's Mate Chief, U. S. Navy, recruiter, Post Office Bldg., Marion.

Those applicants who wish to leave for a Navy training center immediately after graduation or at some particular time in June or July should see the recruiter now that their applications can be completed in plenty of time.

Groups of men may go together, Hunstein said.

Qualified men may work toward assignment to one of the Navy's specialized schools following basic training, Hunstein further stated. More than 62 rating specialties are now available which provide technical training for over 2,000 civilian jobs and highly rated skills.

 ties, men or women, who want to own and operate a chain of RCA licensed coin-operated radios or the radio and watch television.

If you can qualify and have the necessary cash and a sincere desire for financial security, then

About Town
And Country

ped all sleeping service, without seeking or procuring authority of the commission. No sort of eating facilities were furnished and passengers could get no breakfast until long after mid-morning when the train reached its destination.

"The passenger trains were often sidetracked to meet freights
 and on one occasion a passenger train was delayed on a sidetrack to permit a freight train going in the same direction to pass.

"A conductor of the railroad told one person that the railroad was trying to get people to kick about the service so as to discourage people from riding on the trains.

"After the sleeper was discontinued, those Chicago passengers who were fortunate enough to fall asleep were awakened at Danville and again required to show their tickets. The railroad failed to give special rates to and from Chicago on occasions when other lines offered reduced prices. It generally used its oldest and most depleted equipment on the Chicago-to-Harrisburg branch.

"The record fairly shows much revenue business going to other lines, at the inconvenience of the patrons, which should as we believe, could be enjoyed by the petitioner railroad.

"One class of patrons, however, considerable in number, have not gone to other lines. These are the crippled children of southern Illinois. Their benefactors — the Elks lodges at various places along the line — arrange for their periodic visits to expert doctors and hospitals in Chicago and return.

Their deformed bodies cannot stand the strain and stress of business transportation across country
 to other carriers, much less the use of buses for several hundreds of miles in going to and returning to Chicago.

The railroad urges as point 2
 for discontinuance the continuing heavy out-of-pocket losses from the operation of these trains. Had the railroad used its efforts to the end of increasing the use of these trains instead of discouraging their use, we are of the opinion that this loss could have been materially decreased.

"The railroad says that there is adequate remaining service for those who ride these trains. There is no service at all left on its line.

Decatur Boy, 10,
Is Awarded
Carnegie Medal
PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Ten-
 year-old Jon Orlando Fabri, Decatur, Ill., today was awarded a bronze medal by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission for helping to save his aunt and a 6-year-old girl
 from drowning.

The youngster helped to save
 Mary Fabri, 45, and Mary Frances Vidmar, 6, from drowning in the Illinois River near Meredosia, Ill., July 12, 1953. A motorboat in which Miss Fabri, Jon, Mary Frances and four others were riding capsized in deep water.

According to the citation, Miss Fabri and Mary Frances, neither of whom could swim, rose floundering six feet from the overturned boat. Mary Frances seized Miss Fabri around the neck. They submerged repeatedly, swallowing
 water.

Jon rose near the boat, to which the others were holding. He swam underwater to Miss Fabri, seized her and pushed upward. Despite the fact his aunt was 80 pounds heavier than himself, he supported her and the girl for three minutes and maneuvered them to within three feet of the boat, the citation said.

There, a woman survivor also grabbed Miss Fabri. Two men in a rowboat arrived and helped Miss Fabri and the child from the water. All reached the bank safely.

Argentine Paper
Says Pope to Resign
Because of Illness
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina.
 —The afternoon newspaper La Pa-zon said Friday in a Rome dispatch that Pope Pius XII is planning to resign because of illness and retire to a monastery.

The dispatch, credited to a special Rome correspondent, said the Pope knows there is no medical aid for his long illness and he plans to place his scepter in stronger hands.

In Pazon said there is a precedent for such a course in the action of Pope Celestine V in the 13th Century who resigned the Papal throne to enter a Campagna monastery.

It said despite the apparent popularity of the Vatican, the Pope quietly is pressing the project.

"The Holy Father's sickness is very serious and he is not unaware of it," the newspaper said.
 "He knows he has only a few months to live, wherein he will be unable directly to occupy himself with affairs of the Church."

Home Run Punch Turned Against Yankees as Indians Defeat New York, 9-4

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

A May Day survey indicates no World Series pay day for the Yankees this season unless they snap out of it.

The pennant payoff is in September, of course, but if the Yankees don't play better than they did in April, that sixth straight flag will be nothing but a broken dream.

Even their most powerful weapon, the home run, is being turned against them even though they've hit 13 more than any other team but Cleveland, 12 of their own circuit blasts have come with the bases empty. That old bunt punch has gone to the opposition, Yankee pitchers have given up only six homers but two of these won games, three others figured vitally in victories, and only one came in a losing cause. Just two of those opposition homers came with the bases empty, but both, Jackie Jensen's for Boston and Joe DeMaestri's for Philadelphia won games.

Lose to Right Handers
Mickey Vernon of Washington beat the Yankees on opening day with a two-run extra inning homer.

A two-run homer by Minnie Minoso provided the victory margin for Chicago this week and a two-run blast by Larry Doby Friday kept Cleveland alive until it could win 10 in 11 innings, 9-4.

The Yankees yet have to win a game against a right-handed pitcher, yet they're supposed to be weaker against lefties. Lemon, yielding only one earned run, became the fifth to defeat them in the Friday debacle in which he yielded only six hits. Doby, who had four hits, touched off the winning inning with a bases-loaded two-run single. Dave Philley brought in another run with a single and George Strickland drove in the final pair off lefty Whitey Ford with a triple.

The 6-7 record of the Yankees today, compares with their 11-3 pace setting status of May Day of a year ago.

Phil's Beat Milwaukee
In other American league games Chicago blanked Boston, 5-0, to take a firmer hold on first place, Philadelphia defeated Baltimore, 5-1, and Detroit edged Washington, 2-1 in 12 innings. Brooklyn took over the lead in the National by topping Cincinnati 6-3, while New York defeated Chicago in 14 innings, 4-2.

The Phils made it two straight over Milwaukee, 5-2, and Pittsburgh and St. Louis were rained out.

Rookie Bob Trice made it three in a row for the A's by limiting Baltimore to three hits, one until the Orioles scored in the ninth. Bill Renna drove in three Philadelphia runs with a triple and single.

Young Bob Keegan also made it his third straight with an eight-hit zero job over Boston. Ferris Fain had three hits and Grady Hatton drove in two runs for the winners.

Detroit tied the score with singles by Jim Delsing, Harvey Kuenn, and Ray Boone in the ninth, then won for reliever Ralph Branca in the 12th with three more singles by Boone and rookies Al Kaline and Bill Tuttle.

Maglie Wins Fourth Game
Willie Mays hit a homer in the 14th to give the Giants their margin, as Sal Maglie stuck it out for a steady 10-hit fourth triumph. Bob Rush gave only three hits before going out for a 12th inning pinch-hitter.

Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider hit homers and Junior Gilliam got a triple and two doubles in Don Newcombe's eight strikeouts, no walks victory. The defeat knocked Cincinnati out of first place.

The Phils made it two in a row over Milwaukee as Murry Dickson, with relief help from Jim Konstanty, gained his third straight victory.

Friday's Star: Larry Doby, who hit a homer and three singles, driving in four runs in Cleveland's 9-4 victory over the Yankees.

Cubs Buy Bilko From Cardinals

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs were ready to greet big Steve Bilko today as the answer to their long search for a reserve first baseman who would take up the void left by ex-manager Phil Cavaretta.

The Cubs bought the 25-year-old St. Louis Cardinal in a straight cash deal Friday. The price was not announced.

Bilko, a 6-foot, 230 pounder, became available for purchase when Tom Alston, San Diego rookie, took over the first base job for the Cardinals this season.

Correlation, Goyamo Favored 1-2 in Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The richest Kentucky Derby of them all had 18 horses going after the turf jackpot of $102,800 today.

The betting was that Correlation, the Wood Memorial winner, would take it all. He was 5-2 in the overnight line and was almost a sure thing to start as the favorite in the big field.

Goyamo, because he will have the Derby's champion jockey, Eddie Arcaro up, and because he won the Blue Grass stakes, was the second choice at 4-1.

They were two of the "big five" in the field. The other three—Determine, Hasty Road and Fisherman—all were listed at 6-1.

There was a chance that at least one of the 18 would be withdrawn before the Derby starting time of 5:30 p. m. EDT. Close Out, one of the five field horses listed at 20-1, will start only if the track is muddy. And Allie, stablemate of Determine, may not go if it is muddy.

Chance for Fast Track
Despite a weather forecast of scattered showers throughout the night and today, the chances were that the Churchill Downs track would be fast. If it is, it would help a speed horse like Hasty Road, who got a big break when he drew the No. 1 post position.

Correlation is in the No. 4 spot and Goyamo will break from the No. 5 berth. But the luck of the draw went against little Fisherman, who will break out of No. 17, next to the outside. Fisherman, second to Correlation in the Wood, is the second smallest horse in the field. Only Determine, winner of six straight races before he lost to Hasty Road in the Derby Trial last Tuesday, is smaller.

But those two little ones had a lot of support. The question was not of their racing heart, but whether a mile and a quarter at 126 pounds would be too much for them.

In the same class was Hasty Road. An all-time money winner as a two-year-old, he was a flop as a three-year-old until he won the one mile trial in the Churchill Downs track record time of 1:35.

Those who saw him do that liked him because he lost the lead briefly after heading down the stretch to Determine and then came back to beat the little horse from California.

Nothing Close to Big Five
If 18 start, it would mean a net purse of $102,800 to the winner. The previous high pot of gold for a Derby winner was the $98,050 which Court Turf won in 1951.

There wasn't anything close to the "big five" in the overnight betting line. James Session and Black Metal were listed at 15-1 and all the others at 20-1. That included the field of Gov., Bowwing, Super Devil, Close Out, Red Hannigan and Mel Leavitt. The other 20-1 shots were Admiral Porter, King Phalanx, Hasseyampa and Timely Tip.

Allied, coupled with Determine was 6-1 as was Seo O Erin, coupled with Hasty Road.

Stock Car Racing Program Postponed
Heavy rainfall last night has caused the opening program of stock car racing at the Saline County Speedway, scheduled for this evening, to be called off.

Racing officials stated this morning the track was too muddy to get in shape for a program of racing this evening.

Spartans Beat Illinois, 17-3, To Lead Big 10

By United Press

Michigan State, with the only perfect record in the conference, held down first place in the Big Ten baseball race today.

The Spartans powered their way into the top spot Friday by way-lapping Illinois, 17-3, at East Lansing for their second win, while Ohio State, which had won three straight games, was losing to Northwestern, 2-1.

Michigan State pitcher Bud Erickson allowed 10 hits on the way to his second victory of the season. His mates battered five Illinois pitchers for 17 hits. Illinois starter Don Sadalsky was the loser.

Northwestern bunched three hits for two runs in the eighth inning to take Ohio State's measure at Columbus. Ziggy Niepokol pitched two-hit ball for the Wildcats to gain the win. Northwestern collected seven hits off loser Dick Finn.

Michigan pitcher Jack Ritter struck out 16 batters and gave up only five hits as the Wolverines shut out Purdue 6-0 at Ann Arbor. Purdue starter Dennis Blind, who gave up all six runs, got the loss.

Wisconsin's John Nowak blasted a three-run eighth inning triple to give the Badgers a 6-4 win over Indiana at Bloomington. Two in-field hits and an error which filled the bases preceded the big blow. Art Herring homered for Indiana in the first inning.

Iowa at Minnesota was rained out.

Merchants Play Mayfield Nine Here Tomorrow

The Mayfield Blackhawks, featuring "Showboat" Patterson and Mickey Stubblefield, one of the most outstanding colored batteries in this area, will furnish the Merchants competition at the town park diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Merchants will send Billy McNew or Joe Yarber against the Blackhawks in an attempt to make it two in a row over the Kentucky team. Yarber muffed the Mayfield bats in the first encounter but has since complained of a lack of control. McNew, used only in relief thus far, showing a fast ball and a baffling knuckler, may make his first start before the home fans.

"Showboat" Patterson, the agile Mayfield receiver, admits to 41 years of age, but many fans believe he has forgotten at least nine Patterson's antics often overshadow the play of his teammates. The Mayfield shortstop, Roland, and the second sacker, Todd, anchors an infield that will seldom be matched by teams to play in Harrisburg.

The Merchants also have a great crowd pleaser in their big first baseman, Tom "Junior" Dunbar. Tom, who is blistering opposing pitchers at a 400 clip, has seven extra base blows out of eight hits.

The locals will use the following lineup with batting averages shown in parentheses: Ode ss (.538), F. Williams 2b (.357), Guley 3b (.692), Dunbar 1b (.400), B. Williams rf (.300), Parton cf (.300), Logsdon cf (.235), Romonosky c (.150), McNew p (won none, lost none) or Yarber (won one, lost one).

Bull Dogs Finish Last in South Seven Meet Won by Centralia

Harrisburg, with 14 1-2 points, finished last in the South Seven conference track and field meet at West Frankfort last night.

Centralia won the meet, played following a torrential rain and a downpour during about half the meet. The order of points: Centralia 51 1-2, West Frankfort 43 1-2, Herrin 38 1-2, Benton 38, Mt. Vernon 22, Marion 17 and Harrisburg 14 1-2.

The rains came during the preliminaries and afterwards, the marks were held down by these elements. However, Gene Lieber of Centralia broke the 100-yard dash record for the conference with a 10.15 time in a dry preliminary.

Harrisburg was without its best point-getter, Bob Beal, who had gone off to sing in a mixed octet, but his kid brother, Tony, copied the shot put, an event Bob usually captures. Tony also got fifth in the discus.

Other local points: Joe Dorris tied for first in the high jump, Don McGowan was fifth in the 220, and the locals were fourth in both the varsity and freshman relays.

The results:
100-yard dash: Lieber C, Groves M, Jilek B, Johnston H, Gerten W, 10.4.
220-yard dash: Lieber C, Johnston H, Jilek B, Burlison H, McGowan H, 23.8.

440-yard dash: McKemie B, Burton W, Norrawood C, Ranchino H, Edwards M, 55.2.

880-yard run: Firoa W, Lyle W, Brookhouse H, Siebert B, Bechtold C, 2:09.6.

1 mile: Walker W, Granneman H, May C, Monroe B, Williams B, 5:03.

High hurdles: Jones C, Hughes W, Phillips C, McPherson H, McDaniels W, 15.5.

Low hurdles: Jones C, McGee W, Atterbury B, Williams B, Phillips C, 21.4.

Shot put: Tony Beal Hbg, Calca-

terra H, Wham C, Mills M, Ferguson H, 44.3.

Discus: Odum M, Ferguson H, Ranchino H, Snooks B, Tony Beal Hbg, 128.0 1-2.

High jump: Six-way tie for first at 5-2 among Dorris Hbg, Eggers H, Raubach W, Doty B, Wall M, McCann M.

Pole vault: Sowers W, Phillips B, Griffin W, six-way tie for fourth.

Broad jump: Spreckles C, Kirk M, Atterbury B, Raubach W, Law H, 19 feet.

Varsity relay: Centralia, Mt. Vernon, Marion, Harrisburg, Benton, 1:37.7.

Freshman relay: Mt. Vernon, Benton, Centralia, Harrisburg, Herrin, 1:29.

Mile relay: Mt. Vernon, Centralia, West Frankfort, Herrin, Benton, 3:40.1.

Nash Nine to Play At Carterville

The Nash nine will travel to Carterville Sunday to meet the strong All Stars of that city and try to get back into the win column again.

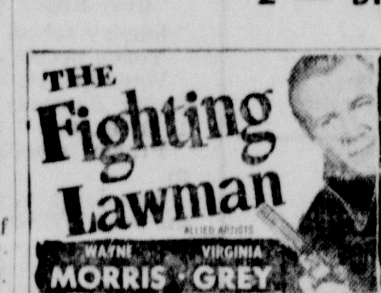

Parker or Roark will be the starting pitcher for Nash with Zeigler, D. Kames, Fulkerson and J. Nolen in the infield. Wilson will handle the catching and the outfield will be Sisk, K. Nolen, Harrison or Buchanan, with Horton, Mazeros, B. Kames and Hull on hand if needed. Glendal Ewell has also rejoined the club to bolster the pitching staff.

Carterville has one of the better clubs in this area, so the local nine will have a battle on its hands. Players are to meet at the town park diamond at 12:30 p. m. for the trip.

Football fields are called grid-irons because the white lines crossing the field resemble a gridiron.

They're always talking about me! They say all sorts of things I can't understand: Isn't she cute? Just a year old. Looks like her mother, doesn't she?

I wish I knew what it all means. But they always smile when they talk about me—so it must be complimentary.

Frankly, I haven't a worry in the world. My Mamma and my Daddy always seem to know what's best for me. I'm sure they want to do everything possible to make mine a wonderful life.

I just hope they realize how important it will be for me to go to Church School. But, of course, being the wonderful parents they are, they'll realize that little souls must grow up just like little bodies. And they'll not only provide for my religious training—they'll set the Christian example that a little "princess" like me simply has to have.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
History is well marked with the tragedies of reformers and revolutionaries, who, having succeeded in overthrowing corrupt and tyrannical governments, soon began to display all the evils they had professed to abolish.

A great example of this was Jeroboam, the rebel who, on the death of King Solomon, led the successful revolt of Ten Tribes against Rehoboam, the heir of Solomon. Jeroboam became the undisputed ruler of the Northern Kingdom of Israel, with a great and notable opportunity. Yet how, in the words of the Prophet Ahijah, he "did evil above all that were before him," is set forth in Kings 14, and following chapters.

I am disposed to leave Jeroboam and his evil ways for the present, and use my comment this week for a word regarding two books about the Bible that seem to me of the utmost importance, both published by Harper and Brothers, in New York.

Somewhat belatedly, for the book was originally published in 1940, I have become acquainted with HARPER'S TOPICAL CONCORDANCE, the work of Charles R. Joy. I have constantly urged the use of Biblical concordances of the older type, such as Young's, but the Concordance by Dr. Joy, also based on the King James Version, goes far beyond all former concordances which have depended entirely upon the location of key words.

In this enormous work, Dr. Joy has arranged 25,000 texts under 2150 topics, the effect of which is to give practically every Biblical text dealing with any particular subject, regardless of whether the name, or a key word, appears in the text.

Also, to make sure that the subject is fully covered, almost every topic has attached to it a cross reference. I am appalled at the amount of labor which went into this work, but I am equally amazed at its quality.

The work is so completely objective, and free from any theological bias, that it may be used with confidence by those of all faiths. Dr. Joy cites, scrupulously without comment, only what the Bible says.

The other book, so recent that a second volume is yet to appear, is more definitely a work of interpretation. It is GREAT IDEAS of the Bible, by Mrs. Ryllis Alexander Goslin Lynip.

The brilliance of its literary style is matched only by the clarity and penetration with which the author develops the great Bible teachings. I may have more to say about this book when the second volume appears.
